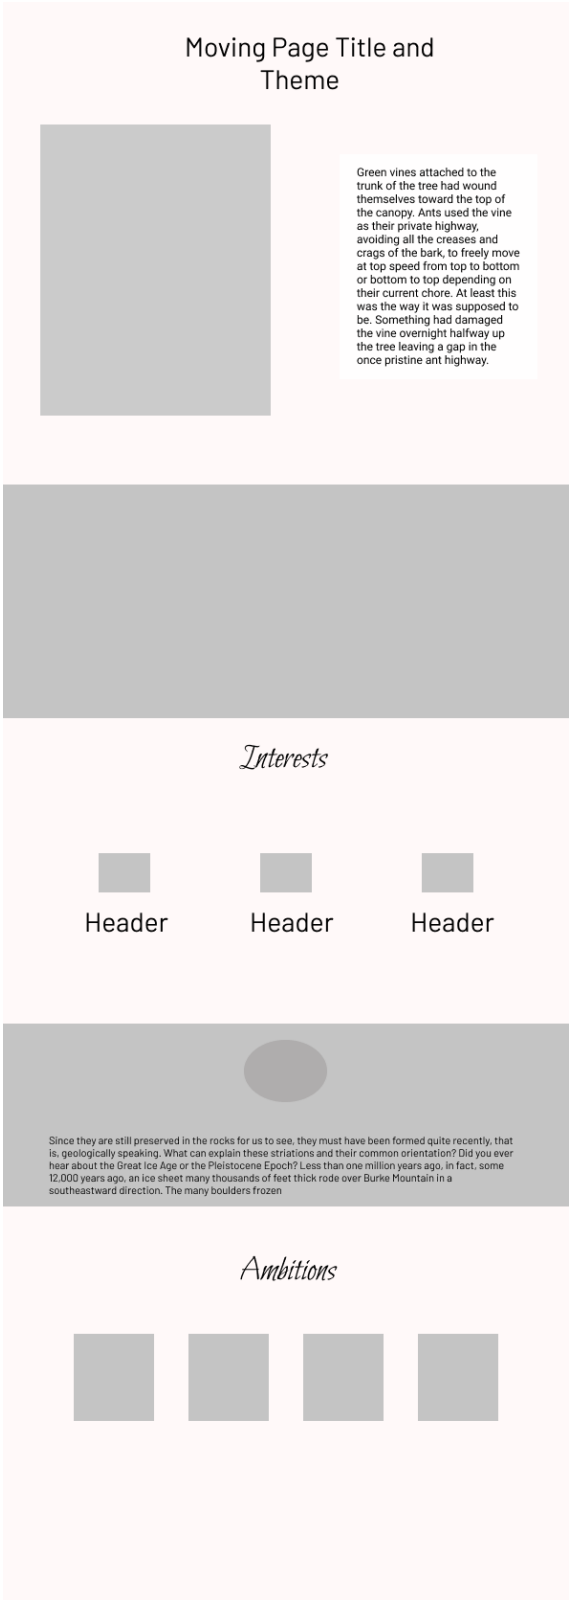
Here is a wireframe I created to layout a beginning design for my website.



Based on my interviewee's answers, I chose to use pink as a base color for the website. Here are two themes that I liked, but I chose the second one that included black because this person's story also includes a sport team of colors black and silver, so it would not mix well with the first theme. Although, I do like how that aqua green seems to bring the two other colors that usually do not mix well together.
